Malaysia is a Southeast Asian country occupying parts of the Malay Peninsula and the island of Borneo. It's known for its beaches, rainforests and mix of Malay, Chinese, Indian and European cultural influences. The capital, Kuala Lumpur, is home to colonial buildings, busy shopping districts such as Bukit Bintang and skyscrapers such as the iconic, 451m-tall Petronas Twin Towers.

Malaysia has its origins in the Malay kingdoms present in the area which, from the 18th century, became subject to the British Empire. The first British territories were known as the Straits Settlements, whose establishment was followed by the Malay kingdoms becoming British protectorates. The territories on Peninsular Malaysia were first unified as the Malayan Union in 1946. Malaya was restructured as the Federation of Malaya in 1948, and achieved independence on 31 August 1957. Malaya united with North Borneo, Sarawak, and Singapore on 16 September 1963 to become Malaysia. Less than two years later in 1965, Singapore was expelled from the federation.

Climate: Located near the equator, Malaysia's climate is categorised as equatorial, being hot and humid throughout the year. The average rainfall is 250 centimetres (98 in) a year and the average temperature is 27 °C (80.6 °F).

In the early 16th century, Portuguese traders sailed to the Far East searching for spices. They came across a small island where they could replenish fresh water, which they named “Pulo Pinaom”. The Dutch dominated the Far East spice trade and the British too needed to establish themselves in the region.

In 1771, the Sultan of Kedah offered Captain Francis Light the island of Penang in return for protection from the Siamese and Burmese armies who were constantly threatening Kedah. The first settlement in Penang was at the present Esplanade area, and Fort Cornwallis. The township was named George Town after King George III of Britain.

DAY 2: PENANG - STREET ART AND HISTORY - FORT CORNWALLIS AND THE ESPLANADE

The Esplanade is the seaside promenade at the heart of George Town's UNESCO World Heritage Site. It was the first area to be cleared under Captain Francis Light, who first landed at the adjacent Fort Cornwallis. The area around the Esplanade can be regarded as George Town's civic centre; Initially used as a parade ground by the British East India Company, the Padang was utilised for cricket matches and military exercises. Fort Cornwallis is a star-shaped fort built by the British East India Company in the late 18th C. and the largest standing fort in Malaysia. The fort never engaged in combat during its operational history.

DAY 2: PENANG - STREET ART AND HISTORY - THE CLAN JETTIES

Along the wooden piers are villages on stilts that house the descendants of Chinese immigrants from the 19th Century. There are six different clans that still reside here, each with an individual jetty named after their surname. Billed as one of the last bastions of old Chinese settlements on the island, this waterfront society is a priceless piece of Penang's history and a living heritage that serves as a reminder of one of South East Asia's most important maritime ports.

DAY 2: PENANG - STREET ART AND HISTORY - THE STREET ART

George Town Street Art, is the street art capital of the country. There are different artists that contributed to change the streetscape of Georgetown, one of them is the talented Lithuanian Ernest Zacharevic, commissioned in 2012 by the Penang Municipal Council to create a street art project in Georgetown called 'Mirrors George Town' which consisted of painting several large scale murals in different location of the old town.

We wil explore Armenian Street by walking and look at some of these - great photo opportunities!

DAY 2: PENANG - STREET ART AND HISTORY - PERANAKAN MANSION

The Peranakan Mansion gives you a glimpse back in time to how the rich Straits Chinese settlers (known as Peranakans) once lived. Originally built in the late 19th century by a rich tin mine owner, Kapitan Cina Chung Keng Kwee, the house was abandoned and left to decay after WWII, when it was used by the Japanese who occupied the island of Penang. This stately home has now been fully restored to its former glory and with the addition of over a thousand antiques of the period and is now a fascinating place to visit.

DAY 2: PENANG - STREET ART AND HISTORY - LUNCH AT LOK THYE KEE

Said to be one the oldest restaurants in Penang, Lok Thye Kee started its operations in the year 1919. Known to some as "Love Boat" in which the architecture resembles a Chinese pleasure boat, it was chiefly recognised for its authentic Hainanese fare. Today, the kitchen is led by a trio of esteemed Malaysian chefs who add their personal flair into a compact menu of Hainanese, Western, Chinese and Malaysian flavours. Their signature dishes include mango salad, chicken lor bak and pie tee.

DAY 2: PENANG - PENANG HILL WITH TRAM & KEK LOK SI RIBBON WISHING

Well known for its cool and fresh climate, Penang Hill is also known for its magnificently spectacular panoramic view of George Town, the mainland, the Penang Bridge and the Straits of Malacca. A funicular railway tram climbs Penang Hill, it was opened to the public on October 21, 1923 .

The garden where David Brown's now stands, was believed to have been originally built by Captain Francis Light for planting strawberries, which grew well here until the outbreak of the Second World War in 1941. This colonial era bungalow with its garden and lily pond allows a view of almost every significant landmark in the island.

OPTION: A welcome glass of sparkling wine with fresh strawberries.

DAY 2: PENANG - PENANG HILL WITH TRAM & KEK LOK SI RIBBON WISHING

Also known as the Temple of Supreme Bliss, Kek Lok Si is said to be the largest Buddhist temple in Southeast Asia, and one of the most famous in Penang. Located in Air Itam, the area has traditionally been regarded as having the right “feng shui” for a temple. The temple’s construction began in 1893. The Manchu Emperor Guangxu approved of the project, bestowing a tablet and gift of 70,000 volumes of the Imperial Edition of the Buddhist Sutras. Other Chinese rulers, such as His Majesty Emperor Kuang Xi and Empress Cixi of the Ching Dynasty, have been sufficiently impressed with the temple so as to have bestowed the temple with gifts. Each participant will get to select a “wishing ribbon” for the temple wishing tree.

PENANG - HERITAGE DINNER IN BLUE MANSION

Themed dinner in the award winning “BLUE MANSION”, serving highly-refined modern Hakka and Cantonese cuisine reflecting the stature of a jet-setting aristocratic man of his time. The Blue Mansion, which was Cheong Fatt Tze’s favorite most lavish home, built before the end of the 19th century. With an eye for detail and excellence, Cheong Fatt Tze was determined to use only the best materials for his Mansion. He shipped artisans in from Southern China and imported building materials from as far as Scotland. At the height of its glory, The Blue Mansion was the pivotal heart of the city. The space served both as a home and an office, and acted as the base for Cheong Fatt Tze’s commercial enterprises. It also housed the Chinese Vice-Consulate and was home to his favoured 7th wife.
